

GIRL SCOUTS OF EASTERN SOUTH CAROLINA

PARENT PERMISSION AND RESPONSIBILITY FORM

Girl Scouts. (If you turned in the pink permission form in Early Bird, you do not need to send another one.)

PARENT, please read and complete the following:

My daughter, _____, a registered member of Girl Scout Troop # _____, has my permission to participate in the 2010 Girl Scout Cookie Sale.

I agree to:

- Allow my daughter to take orders and/or sell cookies beginning only on and not before, Saturday, January 9, 2010.
- Give my daughter proper supervision and adult guidance throughout the sale.
- Be responsible for all cookies ordered (initial orders and reorders) and for all money collected. GSESC will pursue all past due accounts.
- Get signed receipts for all cookies received and turn in all money to the troop.
- Be responsible for turning in all money by March 22, 2010 to my daughter's Troop Cookie Manager.
- Get Photos Permission.

I also understand that:

- Unsold cookies cannot be returned and are my responsibility (damaged cookies can be exchanged).
- Failure to adhere to the sale dates and rules as outlined and agreed to above, will result in the loss of any cookie incentives and/or special recognitions.

IMPORTANT PARENT INFORMATION

It's Girl Scout Cookie time again! This year's Cookie Sale Activity Theme, "Inspired by U" is designed to inspire girls toward higher ideals of self-awareness, self-confidence and achievement. Through planning, goal setting and participation, the cookie sale is a way for your daughter to develop a positive attitude about herself and her future. The Girl Scout Cookie Sale began in 1930 to raise troop funds for new adventures and to give back to the community. While that still holds true, over 79 years of Cookie Sales have evolved into an opportunity that instills the confidence and courage for girls to pursue their goals and succeed in all their endeavors!

The success of our Girl Scout Cookie Sale depends on girls and parents alike. Your daughter's ultimate accomplishments depend on you. With your help, she will have the chance to truly experience this enriching opportunity. Help her set goals, participate in troop training together, go over the safety tips discussed during training and review the Girl Scout Promise and Law to enhance her learning.

The Cookie Sale also gives girls the opportunity to give back to the community through the Gift of Caring project and also to support our military overseas through Operation Cookie Drop. Check out "Product Sales" on our Girl Scout website www.girlscoutsec.org and the baker's website at www.littlebrowniebakers.com for more great ideas on goal setting, fun cookie activities and ways for your family to become superstars!
